2022 Pinot Noir Sonoma Coast

The object of Pleiades is to be delicious, delight the jaded, irritate the wine police, and go well with anything red wine ought to go well with. This Pinot Noir, from the fog-wreathed Sonoma Coast carries the mark of its birthplace, where the marine layer wrestles daily with the sun, and the vines respond in kind—yielding something both restrained and hedonistic, as all great Pinot Noir should. A wine for those who appreciate that beauty and mystery are often one and the same.

Tasting Notes:

Beautiful translucent ruby-red color with brilliant clarity and garnet highlights at the rim. Enticing aromas of cherry preserves lead the way, followed by hints of wild strawberry and forest floor. The bouquet is both vibrant and sophisticated. A subtle hint of tobacco adds complexity and depth to the finish. The wine displays excellent balance between fruit-forward characteristics and earthy complexity typical of Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir. Medium-bodied with silky tannins and refreshing acidity that provides excellent structure without overwhelming the delicate fruit flavors. Long and elegant finish, with the fruit notes lingering pleasantly alongside subtle spice elements.
